Exhibition of fine art

Sun 17th Sept – Fri 22nd Sept 2017

In Grantstown Church

Exhibition Opening: 16th September 2017, 3pm

Grantstown Day Care Centre in association with Wexford County Council and Creative Ireland is pleased to present works of the Centre's residents, regular visitors as well as professional local artists. Although the exhibition acts primarily as a platform for presenting works of the residents and day service guests of the Centre, the exhibition includes works from Terry Dunne, ceramics from Patricia Howard, prints and installations from Michelle Colfer, Nick Jarman and Martina Navratilova, stone work by Barbara Kelly and photography by Lar O'Toole.

Residents and guests of the centre participated in several fine printing workshops which were facilitated by Nick Jarman and Pavlina Kubelkova. These workshops were an introduction to the printing press techniques and the processes involved in creative print and exploring monoprinting using a mixture of natural materials and stencils and employing a variety of techniques. Using the more familiar flower arranging skills some of the participants used their creative talents to produce some beautiful monoprints with floral patterns. Others opted for animal themes through exploring work with stencils and different textures created by using simple found materials.

The exhibition marks the beginning of a new era for the church building and Grantstown community which, with the generosity of the Augustinian Church, support of the Centre and wider community, has the potential to become a hub for the arts and further exhibitions, film screenings and other local community activities.

The exhibition will open in the space of the Grantstown Church at 3.00 pm on Saturday 16th September and will run from Sunday 17th until Fri 22nd Sept, 11am - 4pm. For more information about the Centre, please contact Lesley Jones on 051561016. For more information about the exhibition, contact Pavlina Kubelkova on 087 1369033.
